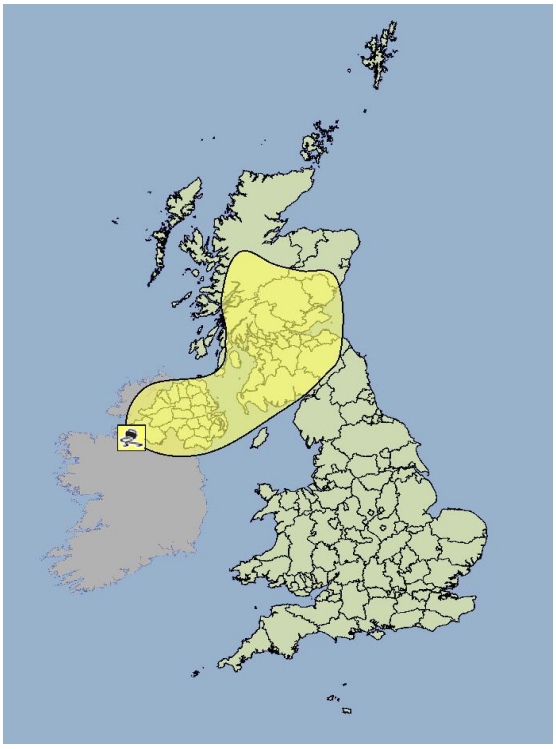
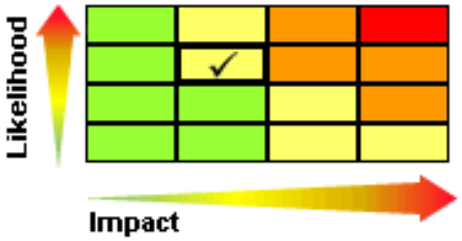
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Occasional showers are expected on Wednesday evening, and at times overnight, leaving some wet surfaces. As ground temperatures fall under clearer skies, there will be a risk of ice formation, especially where remnants of recent snowfalls have been melting. In addition, the showers may be wintry on the highest routes leading to the odd cm of snow in a few places.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 21:00 on Wed, 07th Mar 2018 until 09:00 on Thu, 08th Mar 2018

Icy patches are likely to form on some untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths.

Some longer journey times are possible. Some injuries from slips and falls on icy surfaces are possible.
